1. Will the U.S. stock market continue to rebound or will it pull back?
2. BTC is at the best time point of the four-year bull market cycle, and time is running out.

Ladies and gentlemen, good morning! I'm Michael! I'm glad to be with you on this hopeful morning and welcome a new chapter for us. Yesterday, Trump officially started his second term as the "Crypto President". This is not only a historic moment in American politics, but also marks a new era for the crypto market.

Last weekend, Trump and his wife Melania launched Meme coins named after them, TRUMP and MELANIA. This forward-looking move not only ignited market enthusiasm, but also made cryptocurrency the focus of global attention. The popularity of the crypto market has therefore climbed to an unprecedented height, which is undoubtedly a huge boost to the entire industry, and also verifies the correctness of our long-term direction.

Friends, a new era in the crypto market has officially begun! As witnesses and participants of this historic change, we are standing at the bridge to the future. From favorable policies to market enthusiasm, all conditions are providing us with unprecedented profit opportunities. Now is the best time to write a glorious chapter with our wisdom and actions.

The U.S. President Trump announced that he would impose a 25% tariff on Mexico and Canada imports from February 1, and hinted that similar policies may be extended to China and other countries. This decision quickly pushed the US dollar index to rebound, while exacerbating market concerns about global trade tensions. High tariff policies may push up inflationary pressure and increase the complexity of the Fed's future decision-making. Although the Fed's current main goal is to stabilize the economy, if inflation continues to rise, it may be forced to adopt a more hawkish interest rate policy. The frequency and magnitude of future interest rate cuts may slow down significantly, and there may even be no interest rate cuts for the time being. The impact of tariff policies on the stock market is also significant. Traditional industries may benefit from trade protection in the short term, but the high interest rate environment will put long-term pressure on the technology sector. At the same time, rising risk aversion may prompt funds to flow from risky assets to safe-haven assets, such as the US dollar, gold and US bonds, which will further suppress the overall performance of the stock market. With the three major stock indexes still in a downward trend, a rebound may be the best time for us to reduce our positions or exit.

From a technical perspective, the three major U.S. stock indexes are currently showing obvious risk signals:

Although the Dow Jones Index rebounded last week, the long-term trend of the Bollinger Band middle track and the MA62 bull-bear dividing line are still in a dead cross state, indicating that the overall market trend is still weak. At the same time, the volume failed to be effectively amplified during the rebound, and a serious volume-price divergence occurred. Once the MA62 bull-bear dividing line is lost, the index may start a deeper correction.

The Nasdaq index also showed signs of weakness. The Bollinger Band middle track of the medium- and long-term trend is still downward, with shrinking volume during rebounds and increasing volume during declines. The divergence between the index and the volume is becoming more and more obvious, and further correction pressure may appear at any time.

The S&P 500 index also faces a greater risk of correction. From historical data, the S&P 500 usually has a deep correction under similar technical patterns, and even if there is a short-term rebound, its upside space is very limited. The long-term trend of the Bollinger Band middle track and the MA62 bull-bear dividing line continue to cross, and the serious divergence between the index and the volume further increases the possibility of a market decline.

Overall, whether from a fundamental or technical perspective, U.S. stocks currently lack a good investment cost-effectiveness. There is a risk of further adjustment in the market in the short term, and the overall environment is not conducive to active participation. Rather than taking risks in uncertainty, it is better to seize the current opportunity, re-examine the investment portfolio, and allocate funds to areas with greater potential and stable returns.

In contrast, the crypto market is in a four-year bull market cycle, showing a strong upward trend both technically and fundamentally. Especially under the expectation of policy support from Trump, the "crypto president", the crypto market has ushered in new confidence and motivation, laying a solid foundation for rapid development in the future. Trump has clearly expressed his support for the cryptocurrency industry, which not only marks a positive policy level, but also injects a strong impetus into the crypto market.

At present, the stock market faces multiple uncertainties such as high tariffs, inflationary pressure, the slowdown of the Fed's interest rate cuts, and the overvaluation of the technology sector. In this context, transferring funds from the stock market to the crypto market is a more robust and forward-looking choice. This decision can not only avoid the risks of the traditional market, but also fully seize the bull market opportunities in the crypto market. It is currently at a critical node in the crypto market and is full of historic opportunities. As long as we firmly grasp this trend, we will have the opportunity to achieve the goal of millions or even tens of millions of profits through scientific asset allocation and precise trading strategies. This is not only a feast of wealth growth, but also an important turning point in changing the investment landscape.

Since the launch of the Vanguard AI 4.0 Strategic Partner Program, our earnings in the crypto market have steadily increased. Guys, this is the most critical battle in this Millionaire Training Camp. Don't miss the opportunity! I have emphasized many times that when the stock market is in a downward trend, it is the best choice to adjust the capital allocation to the crypto market in time and follow our Strategic Partner Profit Plan. Although the stock market has rebounded to a certain extent last week due to the promotion of Trump's transaction, the overall profit effect is still weak. Facts have proved that this adjustment decision is wise and correct. Our strategy not only helps everyone avoid the risk of not making money or even losing money in the stock market, but also achieves excess returns in the high volatility of the crypto market. The recent performance is particularly outstanding. You can clearly see that we have accurately captured market opportunities and exceeded our profit targets. This is not only a victory of strategy and technology, but also the result of the joint efforts of every participant.

The high volatility and flexibility of the crypto market have created unprecedented opportunities for us. Through the quantitative trading model of Vanguard AI 4.0, we have successfully avoided the inefficiency risks of the traditional stock market while achieving steady and sustained profit growth in the crypto market. As we have repeatedly emphasized, only through scientific asset allocation and efficient trading strategies can we remain invincible in this challenging market.

Compared with the stock market, the profit opportunities in the crypto market are amazing. From the above figure, we can see that the VIP1/2/3/4 partner groups have achieved a total asset return rate of 132.17%, 198.11%, 245.31%, and 624.07 since the launch of the Strategic Partner Program. This is not just a growth in numbers, but also the best proof that we have defeated the market and surpassed ourselves.

If your total asset return rate does not reach the above average return rate, then you should reflect on why you did not fully keep up with the trading strategy? Why did you fail to achieve the expected results in the face of the same profit opportunities? In this market, the size of the funds determines the size of the returns, but execution is equally important for us to achieve our goal of millions of profits. Many of our strategic partners strictly follow the trading strategy and even achieve performance that exceeds the average return. However, some partners have a large gap with the average return rate due to insufficient execution or failure to seize opportunities in time, and even a few have suffered losses due to improper operations.

If your current total asset return rate does not reach the average level of the team, do not be discouraged. From now on, please be sure to adjust your mindset, follow every trading signal with 100% execution, and fully embrace the upcoming profit opportunities. The current crypto market provides us with a historic opportunity to achieve millions or even tens of millions of profits, and your action and decision-making will be the key to determining the final result.

In this competitive market, our starting points and opportunities are the same, but the final results are very different. Success or failure depends not only on market conditions, but also on our attitude and action towards opportunities. When opportunities come, only by grasping them decisively and doing our best can we reap rich rewards. The high volatility of the crypto market creates possibilities for everyone, and those who dare to go all out are the ultimate winners. Guys, opportunities are fleeting, and if you miss them, you will never get them back. The Partner Program is the most important part of our current Millionaire Training Camp. It is not only an opportunity to make money, but also a great opportunity for us to grow and improve. Every successful investor grows up through continuous learning, adjustment and practice. If you feel that your current returns are lagging behind the average, don't be frustrated or escape, but seriously reflect on your strategy, attitude and execution.

You need to ask yourself a few questions:

1. Did you strictly implement the trading strategy? Sometimes, when we face market fluctuations, we will deviate from the original strategy because of fear or greed. Strictly trading according to the signals of Vanguard AI 4.0 is an important prerequisite for ensuring profits.
2. Do you have enough financial support? The size of the funds determines the size of the income. Proper increase in investment can double your income. Don't give up long-term goals because of short-term difficulties.
3. Do you have enough action? Investment requires not only wisdom, but also decisive action. When opportunities come, being able to make decisions quickly is the key to success.

Currently, the crypto market is in the quadrennial bull market cycle of BTC, showing a strong upward trend both technically and fundamentally. Especially under the expectation of policy support from Trump, the "crypto president", the crypto market has ushered in a new era of its own. Therefore, this partner program is an unprecedented opportunity, providing us with an excellent way to achieve the goal of millions of profits. Such an opportunity may never appear again, and smart investors will not let it slip away easily. In the market, the real winners are always those who dare to act decisively and seize the moment. Time waits for no one, and opportunities will not wait for anyone.

Guys, this is not just an ordinary profit plan, but an action that can change your destiny. After achieving the goal, we may stop this profit plan at any time, and whether you can seize this opportunity within a limited time will determine your future wealth path. Are you ready to become the leader in this wave of wealth?

Let us go all out to welcome our glorious moment together! No hesitation, no retreat, only determination and execution. Believe in yourself and believe in our team, we will definitely be able to achieve the goal of millions or even tens of millions of profits together. This moment is the best time for us to lay a solid foundation for the future. The opportunity is right in front of us, are you ready to go all out with us? Let us work together to create our own road to wealth and freedom!

Today's sharing ends here. The professor will bring you more exciting sharing in the afternoon, please don't miss it!

Topic:

1. Bitcoin has experienced a huge shock at a high level, and the "Crypto President" has officially taken office. Will the "golden age" of cryptocurrency arrive as expected?

Good afternoon, team! I'm Milton Reese, your old friend. Yesterday was a historic moment. With Trump's official inauguration, the leader known as the "crypto president" ushered in a new era of governance. His coming to power heralds the implementation of a series of policies that are favorable to the cryptocurrency market, injecting new vitality into the entire industry and bringing us unprecedented investment opportunities.

And we have already prepared for the rainy day and laid out in advance. Before Trump came to power, we decisively launched the Strategic Partner Program in line with the trend to accurately grasp the pulse of the market. To date, some strategic partner teams have achieved the goal of one million profit and are making every effort to hit a new high of tens of millions of profits. This not only reflects the outstanding effectiveness of our strategy in the market, but also marks that we are one step closer to the dream of successfully listing the Vanguard AI 4.0 system!

Although this week lacks the intensive data market like last week, the current market environment already has the advantages of "time and place". The cryptocurrency market is at the peak of the bull market, which undoubtedly provides us with unprecedented golden opportunities. At such a critical juncture, it is more important than ever to seize opportunities and strike accurately! Next, I will sort out the investment points and trading strategies of this week in detail to help each team member accurately grasp the opportunities in front of them. Our goal is always the same: to help you achieve the goal of millions of profits in the investment market faster and more steadily, and move towards the peak of wealth freedom.

Congratulations to all partners! Michael led everyone to another great victory in trading this morning! We not only successfully avoided the risk of the U.S. stock market falling in the early stage, and accurately sold assets at high levels, but also achieved great success in the cryptocurrency market! At present, the profit report cards of each strategic partner level have been released:

- VIP1: Return on Total Assets 1.4 times
- VIP2: Return on Total Assets 2.1 times
- VIP3: Return on Total Assets 2.7times
- VIP4: Return on Total Assets of a staggering 6.6 times

So far, among all the members who have joined the partner program, 42 have successfully exceeded 10 million in profits, and 655 have achieved a profit of one million. Although the results are remarkable, there is still a certain distance from our January goal of helping 1,000 members achieve a profit of one million US dollars and leading 100 members to break through 10 million US dollars in profits. At the same time, our ultimate goal of leading more than 80% of partners to achieve a profit of one million also requires everyone's joint efforts to achieve.

The main reasons for this result include: some partners have relatively small original funds, some partners joined the high-level group late, and some members failed to fully participate in every transaction due to personal time constraints. Therefore, in order to maximize the use of market opportunities and achieve goals in the coming time, I hope that all partners can further strengthen their execution and action capabilities.

At present, the crypto market is welcoming the golden opportunity of "the right time and the right place". The bull market is surging and the market heat continues to rise! Such opportunities are fleeting and should not be missed. If you have not yet achieved the goal of a million-dollar profit, or want to hit a million-dollar profit and move towards the peak of wealth freedom, now is the best time! Immediately increase the scale of funds, join a higher-level group, and seize the market opportunity! Every trading signal is an excellent opportunity for wealth appreciation, please cherish it. Decisive action and precise execution will become the best way for you to accumulate financial advantages and achieve millions of profits. Remember, the market will never stop for those who hesitate, and the glory of the future lies in every step you choose and act at this moment!

Today we will help all friends review the main core points of Trump's inaugural address:

- a. The golden age of the United States begins now. From today, our country will prosper and win global respect.
- b. Our sovereignty and security will be restored. The scales of justice will be balanced.
- c. I will act quickly to bring hope, prosperity, security and peace to citizens of all races, religions and backgrounds
- d. The United States is restoring national unity, and confidence and pride are higher than ever in the market.
- e. Today, I will sign several historic executive orders to fully restore the United States and launch a common sense revolution.
- f. I will declare a national emergency at the southern border and immediately stop illegal immigration.
- g. The inflation crisis caused by excessive spending and rising energy prices will be resolved.
- h. I will create a Ministry of Efficiency
- i. We will take back the Panama Canal

Although Trump did not directly mention cryptocurrencies in his inaugural address, we have seen two important favorable policies for the market since he took office. This has injected new impetus into the cryptocurrency industry and also boosted market confidence.

Looking ahead, more policies supporting cryptocurrencies are expected to be implemented, which will bring broader growth space and opportunities to the market. For investors, this is undoubtedly a good thing to look forward to!

Trump fulfilled his promise to crypto voters: two major developments have been achieved:

First promise: Appoint a crypto-friendly SEC chairman

On his first day in office, Trump decisively fired former SEC Chairman Gary Gensler and appointed Mark Uyeda as the new SEC Chairman. Mark Uyeda, along with Hester Peirce, are considered the two most crypto-friendly representatives among the five SEC commissioners. They not only support the launch of the spot Bitcoin ETF, but also repeatedly criticize Gary Gensler's over-regulatory stance on the cryptocurrency market. This personnel adjustment marks that the US cryptocurrency policy will move towards a more open and inclusive direction.

Second promise: Release Ross Ulbricht, founder of Silk Road

Trump fulfilled another important promise to crypto voters: release Ross Ulbricht. Ross Ulbricht is the founder of Silk Road, the first darknet market using Bitcoin launched in 2011. In 2015, he was sentenced to two life sentences plus 40 years without parole. Trump's move is not only a goodwill response to the crypto community, but also a landmark event in the history of cryptocurrency.

At the same time, Utah has become the 11th state in the United States to propose a strategic Bitcoin reserve bill. This bill sends a clear and strong signal: Bitcoin is very likely to become a strategic reserve asset in the United States in the future.

If this trend continues, the United States will take the lead in leading major economies around the world to include Bitcoin in their strategic reserve systems. This will not only profoundly change the global financial landscape, but will also open up an unprecedented bull market feast for the cryptocurrency market and push the entire industry to a new peak.

Since Trump took office, he has quickly fulfilled his many promises to crypto voters, injecting unprecedented confidence into the market. With the gradual introduction of more supportive policies, the cryptocurrency market is ushering in a golden opportunity of a lifetime. In the face of this wave of wealth, we must seize the golden window period of the next decade! In order to stand out in this opportunity, every investor needs to do two things:

Focusing on the current Strategic Partner Program, our primary goal is to quickly achieve a profit target of millions of dollars in the cryptocurrency contract market!

With Trump becoming the president of the United States, cryptocurrency is gradually moving towards the mainstream financial system. This means that everyone must actively embrace cryptocurrency so as not to be left behind in the future market. What we have to do is not only to participate, but also to be the first to open up new territory!

At present, each strategic partner group has achieved very impressive profit results. However, we must also admit that the core of contract trading lies in "waiting for opportunities". If there is no suitable market opportunity, we would rather not trade. Only in this way can we achieve a stable victory and maximize the advantages of the compound interest model! After all, although contract trading is lucrative, the market cannot be created out of thin air, and we must wait for the arrival of the signal.

The second opportunity EVW Token Market Value Management Plan is completely different! Its appearance means that we can take the initiative to grasp the direction of destiny and control our investment future!

As cryptocurrency enters its golden age, we have officially launched the "two-wheel drive" development strategy for the crypto market. This strategy is centered on two-line operations, and through the combination of short-term and long-term modes, it provides all partners with a more stable and sustainable path to income.

The first round of driving is precise contract trading. We are committed to grasping the volatility dividends in every data market to quickly maximize short-term income. The second round of driving is the market value management plan, which creates long-term and stable profit space for partners by promoting the steady rise of token value in the spot market. This strategy can not only effectively diversify risks, but also ensure the sustainability of income, laying a solid foundation for our success in the crypto market.

Through this strategy, we are confident that we can achieve the goal of millions of profits at a faster and more stable pace. This is not only the best verification of our team's capabilities, but also a reliable guarantee for creating rich returns for all partners. Today, the golden opportunity of the market has arrived, and it is the critical moment for us to go all out and achieve a leap in wealth together. Friends, let us seize the opportunity and open our glorious chapter with firm actions!

Today is the first day of our full implementation of the management plan. I have asked my assistant to inform everyone to buy EVW spot at around $7. I hope that the partners who have participated in the market value management plan can strictly implement each step according to the plan. So have you bought EVW spot according to the plan and in a certain proportion today? From the day we launched the market value management plan, I have been emphasizing the importance of operational discipline. Because it is related to the success or failure of our entire plan. If someone ignores the overall situation for their own interests, violates operational discipline, and affects the overall advancement of the plan, I will hold them accountable and cancel some of their rights to study in the business school and participate in the partner plan.

According to the feedback from my assistant, most students have already bought EVW spot as planned, and are prepared not to sell it if it is less than $24. Next, we only need to pay close attention to market dynamics and further cooperate closely with institutions to jointly promote the rise of EVW prices. Students who have not kept up with the transaction should also keep up as soon as possible. Next, in the process of pushing EVW prices up, there will inevitably be large fluctuations. During this period, for us, whether it is students who bought in the previous few days or students who bought today, I need to make a request, that is, even if the EVW price falls sharply in the short term, or even falls below the purchase cost price, please do not panic, and remember not to rush to sell the chips. Because this is a normal wash, the price correction is part of the strategy in the process of pushing our price up.

Moreover, there are still many funds in the EVW market that are not in our plan and hold some spot chips. We still need to drive out these funds outside the plan through price fluctuations. Therefore, some price fluctuations during this period are normal phenomena.

Dear partners, the core logic of the "Market Value Management Plan" is actually not complicated. Behind market value management is actually a way of thinking called "banking". This kind of thinking is very important in the financial market and is also the core of our current operation. The banker can push prices up or down through a series of operations and affect market trends. "Market value management" is actually very common in both the cryptocurrency market and the stock market. The so-called banker is a person or group that can influence prices by changing the supply and demand relationship in the market. The banker is not necessarily the person with the most funds in the market, but they often influence market prices and achieve their goals through strategic and organized operations.

Moreover, being a banker does not mean that you must have the most funds or the strongest control in the market. On the contrary, being a banker is a strategic way of thinking. It affects the market sentiment and supply and demand, thereby affecting price fluctuations and making prices fluctuate as you expect. In our market value management plan, we are also using similar "banker" thinking. We work closely with institutions. On the one hand, we create market demand by collectively buying EVW spot. On the other hand, we do not sell the EVW in our hands, which reduces the circulation and pushes up the price. At the same time, the institutions that cooperate with us use a series of market operations to drive out funds outside the plan. Although we are not necessarily the largest funder in the market, we can also dominate our position in the market and achieve the final victory through the designed strategies and operational steps.

In this plan, the rise and fall of market prices are not random, but are gradually achieved through a series of planned operations. Investors who do not understand market dynamics and do not follow the plan will eventually get into trouble due to the fluctuations in market sentiment. In the investment market, institutions have many means of operation, such as pushing up prices by creating good news, or influencing price fluctuations through futures trading or contract trading. In our market value management plan, our strategy is to gradually push up the price of EVW tokens by collectively buying spot.

Once the Market Value Management Plan is successful, it means huge profits. The current price of EVW is around \$8. If it rises to the target price of \$24, there is still a 300% profit margin. If you buy \$500,000, then the profit generated by this fund at that time: $500,000 \times 300\% = 1.5$ million US dollars. You can calculate for yourself how much your own funds will become at that time.

However, we need to note that for those partners who do not understand the market value management plan, or who cannot remain calm and strictly abide by the plan, they may panic due to short-term market fluctuations, and even make wrong selling decisions when the price falls back. Such behavior not only puts oneself in trouble, but also affects the smooth progress of the overall plan.

Therefore, in the following market fluctuations, no matter how the EVW price fluctuates in the short term, please stay calm, abide by the plan, and do not act privately. As long as every partner can strictly follow the plan, the market value management plan can be smoothly promoted and ultimately achieve the goal. Please always remember that our first goal is to push the EVW price above $24. After waiting for the price to rise to the target price, we will not sell all of it immediately, because this will cause a sudden plunge in prices. Those who sell first may have made a profit, while those who sell later will see their profits shrink significantly due to the sudden plunge in prices. This is unfair to the students who sell later. So I will not allow this to happen. Therefore, at that time, I will notify everyone to sell in batches and in an orderly manner, so that the price will remain stable and the overall interests of everyone can be guaranteed. Do you understand?

Tomorrow, we will continue to promote the Market Value Management Plan, which is a key step to accelerate the realization of the profit target. All partners must keep up with the plan and do not wait until the EVW price has risen sharply before joining, when the profit margin may be greatly reduced. At the same time, the opportunity of contract trading should not be missed. In the golden age of cryptocurrency, there will be more and more market opportunities, especially the data market on Thursday this week. Although the volatility may not be as high as last week, a single profit of 200%-400% is still very expected.

For partners who are still preparing funds, please hurry up and prepare the funds as soon as possible. I can provide you with trading strategies and suggestions, but you are the only one responsible for the funds. Because funds are the seeds of wealth, this seed can only be planted by you in order to usher in a bumper harvest.

Now is the best time to act, seize the moment, follow the plan, and go all out to achieve the goal of a million profits!
