Good morning, team! I am Milton Reese, your old friend. There is only one day left to prepare for the Federal Reserve's interest rate decision super data market! All friends must complete all preparations before tomorrow to avoid missing this once-in-a-lifetime heavy trading opportunity!

Now is the final sprint stage of the layout of this super opportunity. Please pay great attention and contact me immediately! We have formulated targeted trading strategies for you in advance and provided tailor-made trading signals for each partner to help you maximize the total capital profit in tomorrow's super data market and achieve a profit target of more than 600%!

In addition, we will also release trading signals in real time in today's crypto contract market. Please pay close attention to the relevant news in the group and seize every high-yield opportunity with us! Before the arrival of the super data market, let us accumulate more wealth through precise operations and welcome the peak of income together!

The power of belief is great, but only action can truly change your destiny. No matter what challenges you are facing now, as long as you choose to believe and take action, you will surely usher in the dawn of success. For many friends who joined our "Millionaire Training Camp", the final difference in income is not in belief, but in action. Some people not only choose to believe, but also strictly implement trading strategies, take action without hesitation in every opportunity, study hard, practice continuously, never miss any possibility of profit, and finally achieve great success.

On the other hand, those friends who have gained less, although they also choose to believe, hesitate at the critical moment. They often miss the best opportunity due to lack of determination and execution, hesitate to move forward in the face of market fluctuations, retreat in the face of challenges, and let precious opportunities slip away quietly. This gap fully illustrates that belief is only the starting point, and firm action is the key to determining the outcome.

Friends, now is the critical moment to act! With the most decisive execution and precise strategy, firmly grasp every opportunity in front of you. Opportunities are fleeting, and only by taking decisive action can we seize the initiative of wealth. Let us make firm determination and go all out to take action to move towards the first million-dollar profit goal, or even the first ten million-dollar profit goal! If we don't act now, when will we act?

Yesterday, the technology release of Chinese startup DeepSeek caused an uproar on Wall Street. With its low-cost, high-performance AI model, DeepSeek has not only had a strong impact on European and American technology giants in terms of technical performance, but has also directly caused the market to have serious concerns about the valuation bubble of AI concept stocks. The news caused European and American technology stocks to plummet across the board, and the market value may evaporate by as much as $1.2 trillion. Nvidia's stock price plummeted by more than 18%, and its market value evaporated by nearly $600 billion, setting a record for the largest single-day market value loss in the history of U.S. stocks. Meta urgently formed several teams to study and replicate DeepSeek's technology, but this failed to calm market concerns. At the same time, European and American chip manufacturers and AI-related industry chain companies all fell, and the entire AI track suffered a heavy blow. The "fear index" VIX soared by more than 51% in the short term, setting a five-week intraday high.

From a technical perspective, yesterday's heavy volume decline of the Nasdaq and S&P 500 indexes may only be the beginning of a correction, not the end of the market adjustment. Both the Nasdaq and S&P 500 indexes are facing the test of the key support level MA62-day bull-bear dividing line. If this support level fails to hold, the Nasdaq index may further drop to 18,400 points, while the S&P 500 index may pull back to around 5,800 points. These two key points will become the focus of the market's long-short game in the short term.

Further observing the relationship between volume and price, the market has recently shown signs of weak growth and shrinking trading volume, while the trading volume has significantly increased during the correction, which indicates that long funds are weakening and short sentiment is heating up. In addition, the rapid rise of the VIX panic index also shows that market sentiment is becoming more cautious and risk aversion is accumulating. This signal further confirms that there is a significant downside risk in the current market.

It is worth noting that yesterday's large-scale decline occurred against the backdrop of an already high market valuation, especially as technology stocks have accumulated a large amount of gains driven by the AI wave. With the release of DeepSeek technology triggering concerns about an AI valuation bubble, the possibility of technology stocks coming under downward pressure has increased significantly. At the same time, this week's intensive macroeconomic events, such as the reassessment of valuation logic in the AI track, the Federal Reserve's interest rate decision, and the release of financial reports from technology giants, will further exacerbate market volatility. Once economic data or policy statements fail to meet market expectations, it may trigger a larger-scale sell-off, causing the index to accelerate its correction.

From a broader cyclical analysis, after a two-year bull market, the U.S. stock market is currently in a transitional period to the early stages of a bear market. Trend reversals are often accompanied by greater volatility, and this technical correction may only be the beginning of a larger adjustment. At present, risk factors in the U.S. stock market are accumulating rapidly, and risks are soaring rapidly. Therefore, our strategy is clear:

1. Temporarily avoid the U.S. stock market and avoid holding any U.S. stocks. In the future, U.S. stocks will continue to fall, and there will be lower lows.
2. Focus on the crypto market and use its high volatility and trading opportunities to accumulate more funds.
3. Wait for the U.S. stock market to end its downward trend before returning to the market and choosing the right time to buy at the bottom to achieve more efficient asset allocation.

Right now, we have a better market opportunity to focus on - the crypto market. After achieving a wealth leap through the Strategic Partner Program, we will wait for the U.S. stock market to reach a low point and then complete the bottom-fishing. This will be the best trading rhythm in the current market environment!

Wealth is a compensation for cognition, not a simple reward for diligence. A true master does not rely on physical struggle, but on accurate judgment and deep cognition of trends to make profits. As I often emphasize, "Real masters make money from cognition."

a. Since the official implementation of the Token Market Value Management Plan 2.0, the EVW token has increased by more than 150%.

b. Since EVW was included in the investment portfolio, the EVW token has increased by more than 500%!

This once again proves an eternal truth: those who foresee always earn more, and those who plan ahead always stand at the commanding heights of wealth. Those partners who decisively bought EVW when the price was low have now achieved amazing returns far exceeding the traditional market in less than two months. This is not only a victory of action, but also a sublimation of cognition. And such opportunities continue to beckon us!

So far, all trading signals of the Strategic Partner Program have achieved considerable profits, and the return on total assets can be described as "amazing"! All this is not accidental, but the result of precise market analysis, strict strategy execution, and the trust and execution of each partner. Facts have proved that our investment decisions and team strategies are correct and effective.

Now, the historic opportunity is right in front of us! With the full advancement of the Token Market Value Management Plan 2.0, EVW still has nearly 200% room to rise from the target price of $24. This is a major plan designed to help partners achieve their million-dollar profit goals faster and more steadily, especially for those students with limited time. More importantly, this opportunity has almost no risk, all you need to do is seize it decisively!

Looking back, EVW has achieved an amazing increase of 200% or even 500%. If you missed the profit opportunities in the past, would you give up the next 200%? Such gains are not only a return on investment, but also a key node to change your life. What lies before you now is a great opportunity to steadily achieve your wealth goals - will you choose to go all out, or let it slip away from your fingertips?

Looking ahead, our goal is clear: to lead more than 80% of partners to achieve a million-dollar profit before the end of February. This is not just a number, but also the practice of our long-term strategy and the fulfillment of our beliefs. To achieve this goal, all partners need to show 100% execution, grasp every trading signal, and seize every profit opportunity.

At the same time, we will also fully promote the marketization of the Vanguard AI 4.0 system, allowing this powerful tool to shine in the crypto market and help more investors succeed. It is worth mentioning that high-level partners will have the opportunity to become regional agents of the Vanguard AI 4.0 system and directly participate in the long-term benefits and market dividends brought by this disruptive innovation!

Dear friends, opportunities are right in front of us, and action is always the only bridge to success. Seize the moment and sprint with all your strength, let us move towards the peak of wealth together and create a brilliant future that belongs to us!

Here I need to remind those friends who are still hesitating: At present, many partners have achieved the leap and skip of partner levels by privately chatting with me and obtaining customized strategies. The higher the level of strategic partners, the more rights and interests, and the higher the income.

Therefore, there is only one answer to win the final victory: become a higher-level partner! This is the only way to move towards wealth freedom and achieve long-term benefits.

This is the end of the morning sharing, and Michael will make a grand appearance in the afternoon! See you there!

1. Regarding the U.S. stock market, the current rebound is the best time to sell.
2. 2025 will be the most historic year for the crypto market, and now is the best opportunity.

Ladies and gentlemen, good afternoon! I am Michael! Tomorrow's Federal Reserve interest rate decision will trigger a super data market, which is a rare investment opportunity, and its importance even exceeds the previous super non-farm payrolls data and CPI data market. According to market expectations, this data market may bring a single profit opportunity of more than 600%. Now there is only one day left before this grand market opportunity, are you ready?

In the current complex and unpredictable market environment, we must keep a clear head. Don't operate in the market in a muddle-headed way, which will eventually lead to the loss of wealth without any reason. At this time, those who wake up early will usher in a new starting point, while those who hesitate may miss the opportunity. Opportunities are fleeting, so when it is time to act, don't hesitate.

The most important thing now is to prepare your funds immediately and go all out to meet this unprecedented market opportunity. In the context of the hot crypto market and the huge fluctuations in data, it is not out of reach to achieve a profit of more than 600%. The key is - are you ready and can you take 100% of the execution power to seize this historic opportunity?

Why do I keep emphasizing that we should sell stocks at this time and switch to the crypto market? The reason is obvious: the current U.S. stock market is facing multiple risks, especially technology stocks are already in a high valuation range. Yesterday's sharp drop in technology stocks clearly exposed its vulnerability under high valuations. At the same time, the uncertainty of the Fed's future interest rate cuts and the adjustment signals shown by the technical side further indicate that temporarily leaving the U.S. stock market to avoid risks is a more rational choice.

In recent technical terms, the S&P 500 and Nasdaq indexes failed to increase their volume during the rebound process. This divergence signal indicates that market sentiment is not stable. Yesterday, the large-scale decline of technology stocks further verified the trend of institutional funds continuing to flee. The rebound volume is reduced, and the decline volume is increased. This is a typical weak pattern. The rebound has become a good opportunity to sell. This shows that the current decline is just the beginning of the adjustment, and the next trend may be even weaker.

Tomorrow's Federal Reserve interest rate decision and the release of earnings reports from large technology companies will be the key indicators of market trends this week. Without strong positive momentum, the downward trend of the market may further intensify. In this uncertain environment, it is undoubtedly a wiser choice to switch to the crypto market. This is not only to avoid the risk of a deep adjustment in the U.S. stock market, but also the best time to seize the historic opportunities in the crypto market.

The crypto market is in a bull market cycle, and its profit potential far exceeds that of the traditional market. After Trump officially took office as the U.S. President, he quickly signed a series of executive orders to support the development of the crypto industry. These measures not only strengthened market confidence, but also showed that crypto are gradually integrating into the core areas of the global economy. Behind these policies, not only is the global regulatory environment likely to be relaxed in the future, but it also creates an unprecedented development opportunity for the entire crypto market.

In this context, instead of passively waiting in the high risk of U.S. stocks, it is better to actively adjust investment strategies and turn to the crypto market with higher growth and explosive power. Seizing this historic opportunity can not only avoid the possible downside risks of traditional markets, but also lay a solid foundation for wealth growth. This is an excellent opportunity to change investment direction and achieve asset transition!

Trump's executive order contains the following key points, aiming to create a more friendly crypto market environment and ensure the United States' leadership in the global digital asset economy:

1. Establish a presidential digital asset market working group: The group is headed by David Sacks, an expert in artificial intelligence and crypto, and its members include the Secretary of the Treasury, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC), etc. The task of the group is to develop a federal regulatory framework for digital assets and evaluate the possibility of establishing a national digital asset strategic reserve.
2. Senate Bank Digital Asset Panel: Cynthia Lummis, a Republican senator from Wyoming who proposed that the United States establish a Bitcoin reserve and purchase 1 million Bitcoins within five years, has been selected as the head of the Senate Bank Digital Asset Panel. As an active promoter of the digital asset field in the U.S. Congress, her appointment symbolizes that the committee will play an important role in crypto assets and Bitcoin legislation. Specifically, Lummis revealed that future digital asset-related legislation will mainly cover digital asset market structure, stablecoin regulatory norms, and Bitcoin strategic reserves.
3. Evaluate current digital asset regulations: All relevant departments need to review existing digital asset laws and regulations and propose possible abolition or amendment suggestions to reduce unnecessary regulatory barriers.
4. Ban central bank digital currency (CBDC): Trump made it clear that no institution should take action to establish or promote CBDC, as this would lead to excessive government control over personal finances and seriously affect personal financial freedom.
5. Abolish outdated policies: Revoke the previous government's digital asset-related executive orders and stop excessive regulation of crypto, aiming to protect innovation and enhance the United States' competitiveness in the digital financial field.
6. Release Silk Road founder: Ross Ulbricht was sentenced to life imprisonment plus 40 years for operating the dark web market Silk Road, and has now been fully and unconditionally pardoned. Trump promised during the 2024 campaign that if elected, he would release Ross immediately after taking office.

The crypto market is welcoming a golden opportunity that is rare in a century, and all this shows that now is the best time to invest in the crypto market. The Trump administration's recent strong support policy, the Fed's interest rate cut expectations and the SEC's positive signals have jointly created an extremely friendly environment for the crypto industry. As the market's acceptance of crypto continues to increase and the regulatory environment gradually improves, digital assets are moving towards the core stage of the global economy. In the future, it is an inevitable trend for crypto to occupy a place in the global economy.

At the World Economic Forum, Trump reiterated his goal of making the United States the "global capital of crypto and artificial intelligence," and his series of policy commitments are being fulfilled one by one. Among them, the potential implementation of the Bitcoin strategic reserve plan is seen by the market as a catalyst that may trigger a new round of explosion in the crypto industry. This not only represents the U.S. government's high recognition of crypto, but also indicates that the pace of mainstreaming of digital assets is accelerating.

Meanwhile, BTC is in a four-year bull market cycle. History tells us that this cycle is the most active and profitable stage in the crypto market, and 2025 is destined to be a milestone year for the industry. The prospects of the crypto market are bright and the profit potential is unlimited. Now is not only the best time to enter the market, but also an important node to achieve wealth leap.

More importantly, the upcoming Federal Reserve interest rate decision tomorrow will bring an unprecedented super data market to the market. The importance of this market is far greater than non-farm and CPI data, and the volatility it brings is likely to set a historical record. For participants, this means a great opportunity to earn more than 600% in a single transaction. Friends, facing such a certain historical opportunity, have you prepared the funds? Opportunities are fleeting, and only by going all out can you seize your own glory!

Looking back at the current trend, instead of passively waiting for the risk of high valuations and institutional withdrawal in the U.S. stock market, it is better to take the initiative and switch to the crypto market. In such a golden period, timely adjustment of strategies and grasping trends can maximize the potential for wealth appreciation. Opportunities will not stop for anyone, so take action and let us seize this wealth feast in the crypto market together!

Listen up, guys! The Strategic Partner Program is the best way for us to achieve our goal of making millions or even tens of millions of dollars in profits. This is not just an ordinary investment opportunity, but a battle to change your destiny. Every minute is crucial, and every opportunity requires us to go all out. This is our chance to stand on the pinnacle of wealth and the perfect moment to write our own legend!

Do you want to make your name shine in the history of success? Do you want to feel the sense of achievement of victory? Now is the time to act! Be brave, decisive, and go all out - this is the attitude we must have. Waiting and watching will only make you miss opportunities. Only by really engaging in the battle can you taste the fruits of victory and truly change your destiny.

Every investment is laying a solid foundation for the future; every persistence is protecting your dream. The power of compound interest is infinite. It is the most powerful tool to multiply wealth. As long as you stick to it, you will eventually see the huge returns it brings you. So, don't hesitate, seize this rare opportunity and let your wealth grow over time.

Tomorrow, we will usher in the super data market, which is an opportunity to make a single profit of more than 600%. It is a golden opportunity that none of us can miss. Take action! Let's do our best to grasp this feast of wealth. Don't waste every minute and every second, prepare funds now to welcome this historic opportunity to change your destiny.
