Michael Foster

1. If the Fed does not cut interest rates, has the risk of technology stocks begun?
2. Continue to sprint towards the million-dollar profit target

Ladies and gentlemen, good morning! I am Michael! Whether in the process of starting a business or investing, I find that many people face the same problem: when encountering difficulties, it is easy to choose to give up. Even if they have made the right choice, they still give up halfway because of lack of firm will. And this is the root cause of most people's failure.

Therefore, whether it is investment or entrepreneurship, it is a long-distance race that tests will and determination. Those who give up halfway always miss the final victory.

I have seen too many people give up their original dreams easily because of market fluctuations or short-term setbacks. They had the opportunity to win a place in this game, but because of lack of firm will, they missed the success. This is not only in the investment market, but also in the entrepreneurial journey. Every great entrepreneur has achieved success after countless failures and difficulties.

Remember, guys, success is never achieved overnight. Every fluctuation and challenge is an opportunity for us to grow. Only those who can have firm beliefs and persevere to the end can enjoy the joy of harvest in the final victory.

From the beginning of this Millionaire Training Camp, I told myself that I would do my best to achieve a qualitative leap in the actual combat of this Millionaire Training Camp and enter the billionaire club. This is a difficult challenge, and I have gone all out and spared no effort in it. Guys, for this Millionaire Training Camp, I have made many breakthroughs, not only in strategy, but also in mentality and action. This is not just a training camp, but an opportunity to change your destiny. I know that only by going all out can we really seize the opportunity and achieve our goals.

In the investment market, don't just listen to what others say, but watch what others do. This is the key to getting fast and stable results. Many people will tell you their plans and goals, but very few actually take action. And those who really put it into practice often get amazing returns. I have kept the professor's strategies and guidance in mind and strictly implement them in every transaction. I know that there are no shortcuts on the road to success, only firm beliefs and unremitting efforts.

And you, guys, dare you really ask yourself, are you really doing your best for your goals? Are you also proving your determination with actions?

Although yesterday's data did not fully reach our expected target, our overall return is still amazing! So far, the total asset return rate of the Strategic Partner Program has achieved outstanding results: the return rates of VIP1, VIP2, VIP3, and VIP4 partners have reached 233.45%, 378.09%, 464.24%, and 1156.05%, respectively. Especially for the VIP4 partner group, if you prepared the funds at the first time and invested all your money, the total assets have doubled 11 times! Such a rate of return is unimaginable in the stock market.

So, now I want to ask you: What is your ROE? What partnership group are you currently in? And more importantly, are you truly committed to your goals?

The market will always reward those who are determined to execute and dare to act, not those who hesitate. Look at those partners who have made amazing profits. They did not hesitate or wait and see, but firmly followed the strategy and seized every profit opportunity.

Guys, now is the time to face yourself and ask yourself: Am I really giving it my all? Am I really doing my best to achieve my goal of making millions or even tens of millions of dollars? The opportunity is right in front of you, the door to wealth in the market has been opened, the key is whether you really dare to take this crucial step!

FEDERAL RESERVE press release

For release at 2:00 p.m. EST

January 29, 2025

Recent indicators suggest that economic activity has continued to expand at a solid pace.

The unemployment rate has stabilized at a low level in recent months, and labor market conditions remain solid. Inflation remains somewhat elevated.

The Committee seeks to achieve maximum employment and inflation at the rate of 2 percent over the longer run. The Committee judges that the risks to achieving its employment and inflation goals are roughly in balance. The economic outlook is uncertain, and the Committee is attentive to the risks to both sides of its dual mandate.

Yesterday, the Fed paused its rate cuts, but more importantly, its policy statement changed significantly (more hawkish than market expectations).

- a. First, the wording of "progress in inflation" was deleted and changed to "inflation rate still slightly increased" (implying a lack of confidence in inflation)
- b. Second, the statement "labor market conditions have generally eased" was deleted and changed to "unemployment rate stabilized at a low level, and labor market conditions remain solid" (acknowledging the resilience of the job market and weakening the need for rate cuts in the short term. The essence of the change in wording is to refuse to give the market "certainty of rate cuts" and instead emphasize data dependence)

The Fed's latest decision has planted more uncertainty in the market, and future policy trends may further exacerbate market volatility. Although the interest rate remained unchanged at this meeting, the Fed hinted that the pace of future interest rate cuts may slow down further, and there is even the possibility of postponing the rate cuts. With inflation still high, future trade and immigration policies will also become key factors affecting inflation trends. In particular, the Trump administration's policy adjustments may further push up inflation expectations, which will directly threaten the Fed's long-standing 2% inflation target. Once inflationary pressure continues to rise, the Fed may even reconsider raising interest rates instead of the market's generally expected rate cuts. This possibility will undoubtedly bring a more severe impact on the U.S. stock market, especially the highly valued technology sector.

The high valuations of technology stocks are facing a double whammy of interest rate risk. The financial reports released yesterday by giants such as Tesla, Meta (Facebook), and Microsoft were mixed. If investors' confidence in technology stocks is further shaken, the current market's high valuation bubble may face the risk of bursting. The strong rise of U.S. technology stocks depends largely on investors' long-term growth expectations for the AI industry. However, Dalio recently warned that the current AI craze is strikingly similar to the market sentiment before the bursting of the Internet bubble in 2000. In 2000, the market also had extremely high expectations for the prospects of Internet technology, but the bubble eventually burst, and the Nasdaq index plummeted by more than 80% in the following two years. Today, will the prosperity of the AI industry repeat the mistakes of the bursting of the Internet bubble? This issue is attracting great attention from the market.

Nvidia's performance this week may have released an important signal. Since last Friday, its stock price has fallen by nearly 20%, and there is almost no obvious support below. What is more noteworthy is that when the market plummeted on Monday, a large number of retail investors rushed to buy at the bottom and tried to buy on dips. However, I would like to remind everyone that Nvidia's decline may have just begun, and the market never operates according to most people's expectations. Looking back at history, at the beginning of each bubble burst, the market will experience the illusion of "buying on dips", but the subsequent adjustments are often more drastic than expected. The high valuation of technology stocks and the interest rate risk make the current market extremely fragile. Nvidia's pullback may only be the prelude to the bursting of the AI bubble, and the depth of the market adjustment may be beyond imagination.

Overall, market uncertainty is rising sharply. Future inflation trends, interest rate policies, the constant adjustment of the Fed's expectations for rate cuts, and possible trade frictions and immigration policy changes brought about by the Trump administration will all have an impact on market sentiment. In particular, the potential bursting of the tech bubble is very likely to be the "last straw" that crushes the market. In such a market environment, we must act decisively, clear out stocks, avoid upcoming risks, and turn to the crypto market with all our strength. Unlike the turbulence and high valuation risks of traditional markets, the crypto market is at a new outbreak point, entering a super bull market cycle that occurs once every four years for BTC. We expect Bitcoin to usher in an epic super bull market in 2025, and now is the golden window period for deploying crypto assets and seizing the opportunity. Instead of passively waiting in the crisis of the traditional market, it is better to switch tracks continuously and seize the real wealth growth opportunities!

Many friends may have noticed that my investment style is hawkish - strong, fierce, and extremely aggressive. Since we choose to fight in the investment market, the goal must be to maximize profits, rather than being satisfied with dispensable meager returns. Otherwise, what is the point of entering the investment market?

Take the current U.S. stock market as an example. If you still hold on to the traditional value investment concept and expect to get 5% or 10% profit every year, then you may not need to do so. Because the current stock market has entered a high valuation bubble zone, risks are accumulating rapidly, funds are quietly flowing out, and even the little profit you originally expected may be swallowed up by the market at any time. I must tell you clearly - this strategy no longer works!

Since the Nasdaq broke through 20,000 points, I have clearly suggested that everyone should increase their investment in the crypto contract market, or even completely clear their stock positions and focus on the opportunities in crypto contracts. As it turns out, this decision is completely correct. We are accelerating the doubling of our total account assets in the crypto market.

Guys, this kind of profit target is something you can never achieve in your entire life in the stock market, right? Opportunities in the market are fleeting, and our task is to seize every such great opportunity to make a real leap in our wealth.

So, take action! The hawkish investment style is destined for those who are eager for change and have the courage to seize opportunities. If you are still hesitant, then the opportunity will slip through your fingers. Now, the choice is in your hands. Become a falcon, or continue to wait?

In the pursuit of wealth, it is crucial to understand the power of compound interest - it is the core law of wealth growth and the key to widening the gap between ordinary people and the truly wealthy.

Recently, in my communication with many students, I found that everyone's reaction to the return on total assets was different. Some students failed to pay attention to the group information in time due to their busy daily life. When they looked back at the income data, they realized how many opportunities they missed; while other students were too aggressive and ignored trading discipline, resulting in lagging income and even losing confidence in themselves. At the same time, many students are asking: "Is it too late to go all out now?" I can tell you clearly: as long as you strictly implement the trading strategy and make full use of the compound interest growth model, you have a chance to achieve the goal of a million profits!

The charm of compound interest lies in its amazing growth effect. Just like a snowball, it is just a small ball at first, but as time goes by, it keeps rolling and accumulating, and eventually becomes a snowy mountain of wealth. To explain it with the simplest mathematical model: $1+1=2$, $2+2=4$, $4+4=8$, $8+8=16$... and so on. Each step of growth will lay a stronger foundation for the next step, and eventually achieve exponential wealth accumulation!

Every market fluctuation is an opportunity for us to improve ourselves and hone our skills. Investment is not only a contest of strategy, but also a contest of faith and patience. We must have firm confidence, meet challenges with unremitting efforts, and seize every possible profit opportunity. The real power of compound interest lies in the accumulation of time. Small steps and fast running will eventually bring huge wealth leaps. As long as we maintain stable growth, the final result will definitely exceed our expectations! This is not only the wisdom of investment, but also the philosophy of life.

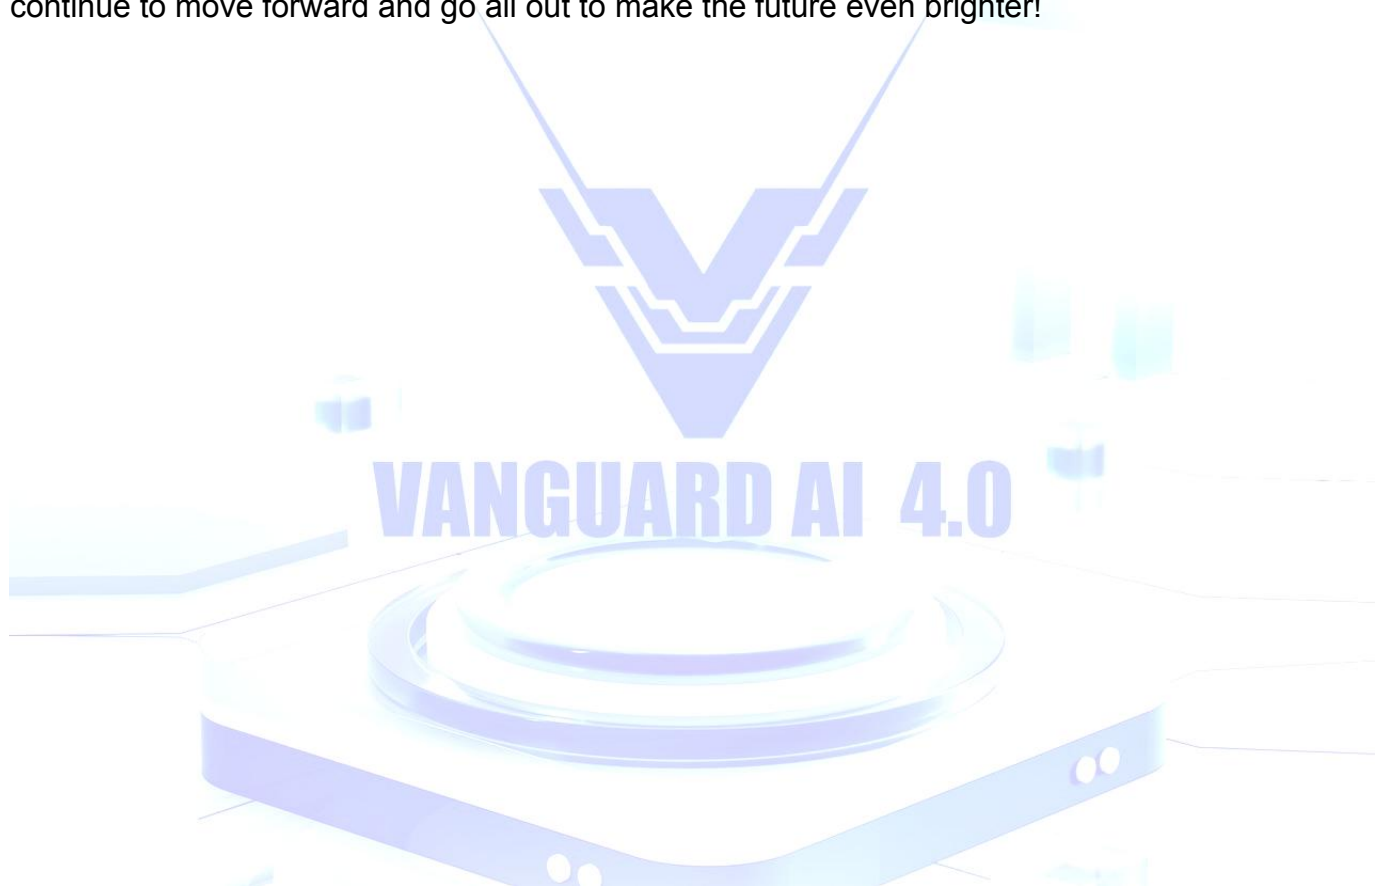

Guys, this is our common journey, and every step forward is driven by the power of compound interest! As long as we execute the trading plan accurately and insist on stable compound interest growth, achieving the profit target is not only possible, but also a sure victory.

However, in the market, there will inevitably be ups and downs. Some friends may feel uneasy about short-term fluctuations, but I want to tell you - don't be afraid! We at EVW Business School are always with you, providing precise strategies and all-round support to help you make up for your losses and even double your profits. If you need a personalized trading plan, please feel free to send me a private message and we will help you!

Although our journey has been illuminated by brilliant victories, please remember that each victory is hard-won. It is the product of patience, strategy and unremitting pursuit of excellence. We should cherish each success like a treasure, because it is these accumulated victories that will eventually pave the way to financial freedom. With optimism, patience and firm belief, we continue to move forward and go all out to make the future even brighter!

1. Has the core driving force of the U.S. stock market bull market reached its peak and is about to fall sharply?
2. January is about to end. Have you achieved your goal of making a million in profit?

Good afternoon, team! I am Milton Reese, your old friend. Thank you Michael for your wonderful sharing this morning. He told us with his actions that only by giving your all can you succeed in entrepreneurship and investment. In fact, this is also the characteristic of all successful people. In this fiercely competitive global market, only those who go all out and are not afraid of difficulties can stand out and achieve brilliant achievements.

Michael's story is not only about his personal struggle, but also a revelation to each of us. Whether in investment or life, we must have firm beliefs and keep working hard to welcome the dawn of success. Success is not achieved overnight, it requires us to make persistent efforts and endless enthusiasm.

Dear friends, in this ever-changing market, each of us has opportunities, but the key is whether we are willing to make enough efforts to pursue our dreams. Don't be defeated by temporary setbacks and difficulties, believe in yourself and believe in our team. As long as we stick to it, we will be able to find our opportunities in the market and achieve our goal of making millions of profits.

Investing is not only about accumulating wealth, but also about constantly learning and accumulating wisdom. Learning to give up and seize opportunities is a crucial ability in investment. So, how to understand it?

Learn to give up. In the investment market, some opportunities seem tempting, but in fact they hide huge risks. In the face of uncertainty and high risks, we need to withdraw decisively to avoid unnecessary losses. As the Bible says: "The wise see the calamity and hide, but the fools go and suffer." Many investors always want to seize every opportunity, but the result is often greed that makes them fall into losses. However, the real winners know how to withdraw in time, protect the principal, and wait for more certain opportunities.

Look at the current U.S. stock market. Institutional funds are continuously withdrawing, while retail investors are still chasing high-end carnivals. If you still regard the market as a major uptrend at this time and ignore the risk of decline, it is very likely that your account will go from profitable to deeply trapped. Giving up seemingly good opportunities is actually making room for better opportunities!

Seizing opportunities means finding those high-potential and low-risk investments in the market and acting decisively. Opportunities always exist in the investment market, but not all opportunities are worth seizing! The key to success does not lie in the frequency of transactions, but in whether you can accurately lock in high-win, low-risk transactions and execute them decisively. Only opportunities with a high degree of certainty are worth our full efforts! This can not only significantly increase the probability of profit, but also effectively avoid unnecessary market risks and achieve a steady doubling of wealth. Investing is not about blindly attacking, but about precise hunting! Seizing the right opportunity at the right time is the only shortcut to long-term profitability.

Currently, the U.S. stock market is at a historic bull-bear turning point. The top shock in January is a clear signal that the market trend is about to reverse. As time enters February and March, the risk of a decline in the U.S. stock market has increased significantly, and the current high area is likely to become the historical top in the next few years. From the overall trend, the U.S. stock market has entered a stage of shock and top building, with extremely limited upward space, while the downside risk is gradually increasing.

The end of the tech bull market has become an indisputable fact, and the long-term top has been formed. In the past few years, the core driving force of the U.S. stock bull market - the hype of new energy and AI has reached its peak, and the structural logic of the market's rise has been completely consumed. Funding is the core support of the market, but capital is currently withdrawing on a large scale, and the foundation supporting the rise of U.S. stocks is gradually collapsing.

This week, NVDA, the leading AI chip stock, has plummeted continuously, which is the best example. The stock price has fallen below the key support level, and the medium and long-term moving averages have formed a dead cross. If the gap cannot be quickly filled in the short term, the stock price may further fall back to around $100. I remember that when the stock fell sharply on Monday, many friends sent me private messages asking if they could buy the dip, and on Monday and Tuesday, many retail investors were buying the dip, but I want to tell you that institutional funds are continuing to withdraw, and the real decline has just begun!

The essence of the market is emotion-driven. In the past few years, the crazy rise of AI and new energy is essentially the result of capital chasing hot spots. When the market enthusiasm subsides and funds flow out, the "end of the song and the dispersal" of the U.S. stock bull market will become an inevitable trend. In 2025, U.S. technology stocks will enter a long bear market cycle, and stock prices will experience high-level fluctuations, continue to peak, and eventually enter a long-term downward trend.

Faced with this historic market change, we must decisively adjust our asset allocation, withdraw from the extremely risky U.S. stock market, and switch to the crypto market with greater growth potential. The current crypto market is in the early stages of a new bull market cycle, which will be our best opportunity to achieve wealth leap! Smart money has already started to act, and your choice will determine the height of your future wealth!

So why is it right to invest in the crypto market? BTC is in a four-year bull market cycle. This cycle is not only due to historical laws, but also the resonance result of the long-term accumulation of the market. It is currently the start-up stage of the BTC bull market, and the horn of a new round of price surge has been sounded. As the trend accelerates, the BTC price will hit a new high of $180,000 in the next few months. There is no doubt that the crypto market has become one of the most promising and hottest investment tracks at present.

But if you want to really make a lot of money, you must make deterministic transactions instead of blindly acting! The current volatility of the crypto market is extremely high, and opportunities seem to be everywhere, but can you really seize all opportunities? Obviously not! That's why we need to accurately screen the best trading signals and lock in the entry points that really have a super high winning rate.

Keep in mind: the smartest investors are not the ones who trade the most, but the ones who trade the most accurately and decisively! The sprint stage of the BTC bull market has arrived. Now, what you need to do is not to chase all opportunities, but to lock in the most valuable trading signals and go all out!

At present, the total asset return rates of VIP1, VIP2, VIP3, and VIP4 partners are 243.45%, 401.99%, 492.45%, and 1237.69%, respectively. Through these data comparisons, it can be clearly seen that the income gap between different partner groups is significant. This is exactly the result of different investment principals. The more principal you invest, the greater the risk you can bear, and the more substantial the income will naturally be.

In the world of investment, the amount of principal directly determines the income you can get. Large investments can not only enjoy more market fluctuation dividends, but also achieve rapid growth of wealth through the compound interest effect. This is why we encourage everyone to actively join higher-level partner groups. Only on a higher platform can we truly unleash the potential of investment and achieve higher income goals.

Joining a higher level partner group not only means accelerating wealth growth, but also a key step towards long-term success. This not only allows you to occupy a higher level of income in the crypto market, but also gives you priority in becoming a regional agent of the Vanguard AI 4.0 system.

The launch of Vanguard AI 4.0 is more than just a product launch. It will lead an investment revolution. As a regional agent, you will be at the forefront of this change, grow with disruptive technology, and witness how it completely changes the market landscape. Currently, the number of regional agents is not yet fully open, but outstanding students from the business school will enjoy priority application. This is not only an exclusive privilege, but also a long-term career opportunity worth striving for!

Imagine that when you become a regional agent, your income will no longer be limited to a single market fluctuation, but a sustainable wealth system will be established. In the future, you may no longer need to work according to your boss's mood, nor worry about whether your pension is sufficient. The regional agent plan will provide you with a career that truly belongs to you, and through hard work and foresight, you can build a long-term and stable wealth growth model.

In addition, the grading system of the Strategic Partner Program is based on fairness and efficiency, and tailors a diverse profit and equity distribution mechanism for participants at different levels. As your level increases, you will not only enjoy a lower profit donation ratio, but also gain more diverse and long-term profit opportunities. This mechanism is very simple and clear: the more you invest, the more you earn.

All of this will eventually promote the market penetration of Vanguard AI 4.0, making more individuals and institutions willing to pay for its services - $50,000 per year for the individual version and $1 million per year for the institutional version. Only when more people make money through the Vanguard AI 4.0 system will more people be willing to pay for this advanced investment tool, and this is exactly the wealth closed loop created by the Partner Program and the Vanguard AI 4.0 system!

Time flies, January is coming to an end! Now, please take a serious look at your crypto account, have you achieved your million-dollar profit goal? If you have, I sincerely congratulate you! This shows that your execution and discipline are excellent, and you strictly follow the trading strategy to win the battle of wealth!

If you haven't completed it yet, how far are you from your goal? What is the reason for not reaching your profit target? Please send me or my assistant a private message to tell us your actual situation. We will tailor a unique profit plan and private trading signals for you based on your account size, trading habits, etc., to help you accurately lock in every profit opportunity and accelerate the achievement of your goals!

Our goal remains the same: to lead every partner to achieve a million-dollar profit before the end of February! We will not abandon or give up any partner who has always supported and trusted us! However, opportunities are fleeting, and the market will not stop for anyone, so I hope that for every profit opportunity that comes next, everyone can show 100% execution, grasp every trading signal, and lock in every profit growth! Let the million-dollar profit become a reality!

Finally, the EVW Token Market Value Management Plan 2.0 is still progressing steadily, and the position building is still continuing! At present, EVW still has a huge upside potential from our target price of $24, which means there are still very attractive profit opportunities waiting for you to seize! The earlier you participate, the lower the cost and the higher the return, this is an indisputable fact!

Time waits for no one, and the market will not wait for those who hesitate! Now is the best time to enter the market. All partners are requested to seize the time and plan funds in advance to ensure that they can participate in this round of market value management plan to the greatest extent and lock in your excess returns! Only by acting decisively can you seize the opportunity!

Dear friends, opportunities are right in front of us, and action is always the only bridge to success. Seize the moment and sprint with all your strength. Let us move towards the peak of wealth together and create a brilliant future for ourselves!
